

UoN to host first Nairobi Innovation Week

The University of Nairobi will host the first Nairobi Innovation Week on August 5-7, 2015.

Themed 'Innovate and Prosper', the Nairobi Innovation Week aims at providing a national platform for showcasing and recognizing the relevant outstanding innovations dotting the Kenyan landscape, while fanning policy discussions on disruptive and productive discoveries.

The first ever in the history of the University of Nairobi, the Innovation Week will be an annual event characterized by, among other activities, plenary sessions, paper and case study presentations, roundtable discussions as well as exhibitions of innovations and inventions by various players in the Kenyan economy.

Entry is free!